by Tom Wright – Mar 30, 2016

Property developers Frogmore and Galliard Homes have completed the first of their luxury properties at One Hyde Park in Marylebone.

The Chilterns at 24 Paddington Street has 44 luxury residences, a restaurant, a gym and sauna, private cinema, wine cellars and a lobby with artwork by David Bailey.

The first completed property is a three-bedroom residence priced at £7.7m.

Stephen Conway, Chief Executive of Galliard Homes said: “We are delighted to unveil the first completed and dressed residence at The Chilterns.

“We believe that we have delivered on our initial vision for The Chilterns which was to create the most exclusive address in Marylebone and the wider West End.

“In my view, The Chilterns offers exceptional homes which are the area’s very best address and a superb investment for the future.”

The first collection of residences was launched in October 2013 and sold quickly.

The development is now over 95% complete.
